Senate Upholds $9.5 Million
Slash in Building Program

MADISON (AP)—Although the lion slash of Gov. Gaylord Nelson's original budget recommendation of $13.5 million Monday, the State Senate approved the version of the governor's budget which would cut $9.5 million from the building program.

The state's multi-million dollar building program appears to have been the hardest hit by the Senate action upholding the $9.5 million cut.

Joan Davis Dies In California

Noted Comedienne
Succumbs After Heart Attack

PALM SPRINGS, CALIF. —

Comedienne Joan Davis of radio and TV fame died in a Palm Springs hospital today following a heart attack.

When Miss Davis died in Desert Hospital her mother, Mrs. Nina Davis, and a Catholic priest were by her side.

The agile and animated comedienne had been in virtual retirement for the last three or four years, spending much of her time at her desert home here. She also had a home in Hollywood.

Miss Davis' long career in radio, TV and movies started at the age of 6 when she was taken from an amateur night appearance and signed for the Pantages vaudeville circuit. Her act, a comedy single, was billed as "toy comedienne."

Born in St. Paul, she was born Josephine Davis on June 20, 1913 in St. Paul, Minn., the only child of Leroy Davis, a train dispatcher, and Nina Davis.

Miss Davis last figured in the news in 1959 when she said her

Racial Riots May Keep U. S. Courts Busy

Justice Bureau
Getting Ready for Criminal Actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department geared today for a possible long line of criminal prosecutions over Alabama's "freedom riders" racial violence.

A force of FBI agents, thrown into the area over the weekend, made its first arrests late Monday and more arrests were expected. The Justice Department indicated it would seek stiff penalties.

All of last week's outbreaks followed efforts by out-of-state white and Negro students to break Alabama's ban on integrated bus seating.

In the initial arrests, four men were taken into custody by FBI agents at Anniston, Ala., and charged with the fire bombing of an interstate bus near the city May 14.

Stiff Penalties
The offense carries penalties up to 20 years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

The Anniston incident, in which the mob of white men broke the bus windows and tossed in a fire bomb, was the first of the past week's violence.

Other freedom riders, traveling by bus into Alabama from Atlanta, Ga., were kicked and beaten at Anniston and Birmingham. On Saturday, a major free-for-all broke out—with a number of persons injured—when an interstate bus arrived at Montgomery, Ala.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy announced the Anniston arrests late Monday after a 45-minute conference at the White House with his brother, President Kennedy.

Despite the Alabama race troubles, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the administration will not seek new civil rights laws this year.

The Alabama congressional delegation—both senators and all nine House members—joined Alabama Gov. John Patterson Monday in urging that federal marshals be recalled from the state.

Congress to Get Plan Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders reported today that President Kennedy will propose this week substantial increases in government spending on space, military ground forces and aid to Southeast Asia.

Kennedy will send one message—and possibly two—to congress on Thursday, they said.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., said he understands Kennedy will ask for about $25 billion to put more muscle into army and marine divisions.

The sources who outlined part of the plans earlier had estimated a price tag of $1 billion for the whole package.

Albanian Red Dictator Jails 30,000 Enemies

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Albanian communist boss Enver Hoxha was reported today to have jailed 30,000 political opponents since last year when he started siding with Red China against Russia.

Despite the arrests and a series of executions, Hoxha is struggling for his political survival and "lives in fear of his shadow," a former high Albanian official said.

The official, who fled his country, said the current trial of 10 Albanians, charged with plotting Hoxha's overthrow with the aid of Greece, Yugoslavia, and the United States, actually is a cover to wipe out pro-Russian elements. Foreign observers noted that although the trial began last week, the Soviet satellite countries have ignored it and even Moscow radio's Albanian broadcasts have mentioned it. Only the Albanian news agency (ATA) and Radio Tirana have carried reports to the outside world. There are no western newsmen in Albania and few foreign diplomats.

Last month a newspaper in Athens said it had reliable information that Hoxha's purge had cost the lives of 60 persons, all Communist party members. Official Albanian figures put the party membership at 33,600 out of a population of 1,625,000.

Hoxha, a Stalinist who has ruled the Albanian Communist party for 20 years, last year chose to side with Peiping's hard policies against the "peaceful coexistence" line of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. He has turned his back on the Soviet Union, although the trial began last week, the Soviet satellite countries have ignored it and even Moscow radio's Albanian broadcasts have mentioned it.

All Political Bloc Banned In South Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The U.S. Embassy today expressed deep concern about the abolition of all political parties by South Korea's new military rulers. The military junta also refused to approve an agreement bringing their soldiers back under U.N. control.

"Any step suppressing free government processes and which makes more difficult restoration of civil government is a matter of deep concern," said a U.S. Embassy spokesman.

The generals ruling the country showed no sign of backing down under U.S. pressure.

Backs U. S. Command
The embassy also is supporting the U.N. Command in its efforts to have the South Korean military recognize the authority of U.S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder. As U.N. commander he is operational chief of all military forces in South Korea.

Maj Gen Pak Chung-hi, chief political strategist of last week's coup, told newsmen Korean forces would return to Magruder's control as soon as possible.

But several hours later the U.N. Command issued a statement saying the 30-member Supreme Military Council had overruled Pak on part of an agreement with Magruder.

This voided the entire agreement, the U.N. Command said, although it added that there were still "some points on which their views coincided."

Pleas by Goldfine Accepted by Court

BOSTON (AP) — The United States district court today formally accepted guilty pleas to income tax evasion conditionally accepted May 15 from industrialist Bernard Goldfine, 70, pending a finding that he was mentally competent.

The court found today he was competent but did not set a date for imposing sentence. Goldfine had pleaded guilty to all counts in two indictments charging he evaded nearly $800,000 in personal and corporate income taxes.

Ask Moratorium On Atomic Tests

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union insisted today that the United States and Britain agree to an uncontrolled, unlimited moratorium on underground nuclear tests.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the three-power nuclear test ban conference his government cannot accept a western proposal that the moratorium expire at the end of a three-year research program. The research would provide better detection of small atomic underground blasts.

Tsarapkin again rejected the two western governments' view that they cannot commit themselves to an unlimited moratorium until the research program shows to what extent underground explosions can be detected.

He told acting U.S. Delegate Charles C. Stelle and Sir Michael Wright of Britain a limited moratorium would be of advantage only to the United States and other countries "which want to resume the nuclear armaments race." He accused the United States of seeking a resumption of nuclear weapons testing.

Eichmann in Control Over Romania Jews

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann was described in court today as the supreme authority over the Jews in Romania during World War II, with more power than the collaborating Antonescu government.

The prosecution produced documents showing the Gestapo officer, on trial for directing the Nazis' Jewish pogrom, dealt directly with Bucharest and often bypassed the Nazi Foreign Ministry.

Eichmann delegated his power to SS (Elite Guard) Maj. Gustav Richter on the scene.

Criticized Government
In one document introduced by the prosecution, Richter said he had scolded the puppet government because one of its courtiers had ordered the return of money—on the false pretense of helping them to emigrate. The ruling was reported to a death camp.

July 26, 1942, was the black day for Romania's Jews.

Orders flew out of Berlin to whip up the pogrom. Deportations to Auschwitz followed and many thousands also were shot in Romanian ghettos by roving bands of the Einsatz Kommandos—special action squads whose reports came to Eichmann's office "for Jewish affairs."

New Effort At Freedom Bus Journey

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Police today announced the arrest of a man accused of beating two newsmen in the outbreak of race rioting that put this city under martial law.

Roaming bands of white youths, bomb threats and reports of new attempts at racially integrated freedom rides caused an uneasy night in this Alabama capital city ruled by National Guardsmen with a firm hand.

Propose New Ride
The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) said it was trying to make bus reservations for another freedom ride. Such a trip Saturday touched off the bloody riot and led to Sunday's attempted mob assault on a Negro church.

Assistant Police Chief E. P. Brown said a man identified as Claude Henley, 37, of Montgomery was jailed and then released under $200 bond on charges of attacking NBC cameraman Maurice (Moe) Leavey and soundman H. W. Ruser.

A mob jerked cameras from photographers and beat the newsmen before savagely attacking nearly two dozen white and Negro freedom riders just after they stepped off a bus in the Greyhound station Saturday.

Five Persons Fined
Also beaten was John Seigenthaler, an assistant to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy. Seigenthaler had come here as President Kennedy's emissary to ask Gov. John Patterson to guarantee the safety of the freedom riders.

Five persons were fined from $25 to $100 Monday for failing to

Kozlov Illness Could Change Soviet Leadership

GENEVA (UPI)—The reported illness of Frol Kozlov, number two man in the Soviet hierarchy, today set off speculation that the Kremlin might have to revert to "collective leadership" if anything now happens to Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Recent changes and purges in the highest layers of the Soviet hierarchy have deprived it of outstanding personalities who might qualify as eventual successors to Khrushchev.

There was no official confirmation in Russian delegation quarters at the Laos conference, headed by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, of the alleged serious illness of Kozlov.

There were persistent rumors that he is unwell, suffering from heart trouble.

The question of succession to the supreme leadership is the most delicate and explosive issue in Russia. Nobody of any standing in the Soviet setup dares speculate publicly on it.

$45 Million Reported Spent to Train Guerrillas for Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators have been told the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) spent $45 million training and equipping a 1,500-man guerrilla force never invaders escape to the mountains geared for a full-scale Cuban invasion.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is reported to have testified before a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee that he gave information for military arrangements for an attempt to land the 1,500 at a point where they could join guerrillas operating in the mountains.

Lemnitzer was said by committee members to have made it clear that he specified the attempt would be successful only if certain conditions were met. These reportedly included the destruction of Fidel Castro's means of escape, plus realization of the CIA's prediction that anti-Castro groups would rally to help the 1,500-man guerrilla force never invaders escape to the mountains when they came ashore.

Things Went Wrong
The objective, it was reported, was to avoid contact with Castro's army, if possible, and to consolidate forces that could harass him and provide cover for possible further landings.

Instead, almost everything went wrong. The invaders' old B26 bombers did not bomb the airfields. In fact, the bombers arrived in Cuba in broad daylight when Castro's armed T33 trainers already were in the air.

Castro knew in advance of the landing site and had massed his forces, equipped with tanks and artillery, to greet the incoming guerrillas. His more modern planes shot down several of the World War II bombers, leaving the anti-Castro troops without an cover.

The final disaster was the sinking of an old Liberty ship carrying most of their communications equipment and ammunition.

This explanation apparently has convinced most subcommittee members—except Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.—that the joint chiefs are not primarily to blame for the fiasco.

Gore, who called previously for replacement of the joint chiefs, renewed in the Senate Monday his contention that those "charged with official responsibility should be held responsible for the part they played."

Majority Leader Mansfield Will Make Effort to Curtail Filibustering in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said today that two-thirds of senators voting now can cut off Senate debate. Mansfield has proposed that this authority be given to a lesser group of three-fifths.

Mansfield said in an interview his plan for the session call for an attempt to amend the Senate rules, probably in July, to make it easier to cut off Southern filibusters against civil rights legislation.

DuPont Seeks Tax Relief on GM Stock Sale

Initiative on Bill Would Have to Come From Administration

WASHINGTON (AP)—If stockholders in E.I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. are to get any relief from a possible $1 billion tax liability, the initiative may have to come from President Kennedy's administration.

There were indications today Congress is not inclined to act unless the executive branch gives a nudge.

The tax claim was foreshadowed when the Supreme Court held yesterday that Du Pont must give up its multi-billion dollar holdings of General Motors Corp. stock.

Hit by Taxes
The stock would have to be distributed among Du Pont stockholders. And Du Pont president Crawford H. Greenwalt said "Hundreds of thousands of innocent stockholders" will be hit with taxes on the value of the stock as ordinary income unless Congress acts.

He estimated the total tax bill as likely exceeding $1 billion.

Committees of both the House and Senate have wrestled in the past with the problem of forced divestitures like the one involved in the present case, but neither chamber has ever passed a bill for special treatment of the income.

Senate Okays Hike for Ads

Counties Can Spend $15,000 Yearly for Area Promotions

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Senate Monday approved an Assembly bill that would permit county boards to appropriate up to $15,000 a year for advertising industrial and recreational advantages. The maximum is now $5,000 annually.

Also approved was an Assembly passed bill that would raise the fine for persons convicted of causing fires in places of public lodging due to smoking in bed from $10 to $50 to a minimum of $30 and maximum of $250.

The Senators killed an Assembly proposal that would have subjected state National Guardsmen to a $5 fine for missing weekly drill, but the Senators did pass a bill that would allow the State Claims Commission to settle actions of less than $500 without introducing the request to the Legislature in bill form. The Assembly passed the proposal earlier.

The Senate also passed a bill by Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear, if his home state granted similar Creek. The proposal would allow

President Will Propose Big Boost in Spending In Space Race, Defense

Kennedy Overrides Advisers by Asking For Moderate Program on Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is about to ask Congress for a big boost in space and defense spending, plus a modest new set of economic tools to try to curtail hard-core unemployment.

The word moderate is one most frequently heard to describe the plans the President is drafting to send to Congress in the next few days in a new economic message. The cost may run to around $1 billion.

Kennedy is reported to have overruled some key advisers who advocated a broad public works program and other non-military spending proposals aimed at curbing unemployment.

Create Jobs
Instead, the President is said to have decided that, with business conditions improving, emphasis on speeding U.S. efforts to beat the Soviets in putting a man on the moon and strengthening the nation's defenses is more urgent and politically feasible. This program, too, will create jobs.

Kennedy has run well behind his own deadlines on domestic economic plans. Last February he promised to submit to Congress by the end of March a plan to improve the unemployment compensation system on a permanent basis. His deadline for an over-all economic reappraisal ran out six weeks ago today.

Actually, the President is seeking to keep the budget deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 within reasonable bounds. Officials point out that in the post-recession fiscal year ended in mid-1959 former President Dwight D. Eisenhower ran up a deficit exceeding $12 billion. Kennedy is determined to keep next year's deficit well under half that amount.

Accordingly, the word is that the administration will go slow for a licensed nonresident attorney to act in a given Wisconsin case with the consent of the court involved.

The Senate also passed a bill by Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear, if his home state granted similar Creek. The proposal would allow

Laos Meeting Deeply Divided On Supervision

Delegates Have 3 Possible Alternatives To Ponder at Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—The East-West conference on Laos prepared today to chart its future course after a week of opening statements that showed the delegates deeply divided on the way to supervise neutrality in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

The conference must now decide whether to (1) split up in study committees, (2) go on debating points at issue in full sessions, or (3) recess until after the June 3 meeting in Vienna of President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The nations at the conference table are split roughly three ways on how the International Control Commission set up to police the cease-fire in Laos should function, both in checking the military situation and later in supervising the Laotian neutrality the conference is supposed to underwrite.

Limit Activities
The Communist bloc wants to limit the commission's activities and subject it to vetoes of just about everybody concerned. The West wants to extend its operation to every corner of the jungle kingdom and eliminate any veto restrictions.

India, chairman of the commission that also includes Poland and Canada, favors a middle position that would allow a veto but permit the filling of majority and minority reports. Neutral Burma and Cambodia support the Indian stand.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk had demanded that the commission be empowered to investigate truce violations without hindrance.

Allow Investigations
Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko would allow investigations only on order of the co-chairmen of the conference, the Soviet Union and Britain, and require all commission decisions to be unanimous.

Cambodian Foreign Minister Nhek Tiouloun Monday said he agreed with a Soviet contention that under the Western proposal the control group might become an "instrument for interference in the internal affairs" in Laos. He appealed to the United States to modify its position.

With neither the United States nor the Soviet Union showing any tendency to modify its stand, there was growing belief that the dispute would be left for President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev to resolve at their meeting.

Blind Man To Receive Ph.D. Degree

MADISON (AP)—A two-decade project by Norman Coombs' family will culminate June 5 when he is awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy by the University of Wisconsin.

Coombs, now 28, was blinded 20 years ago in an accident. Since then his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Coombs of Milwaukee, and in recent years, his wife Jean, have done his reading, typing and otherwise served as his eyes.

Coombs graduated from the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee in 1955 and received his master's degree in 1956. Since then he has been preparing for the Ph.D. in history, spending a year with Jean in London on a Fulbright Scholarship to complete research. He also has been teaching history classes as a graduate assistant.

New Air Force Chief

Appointment of LeMay Favorable for B70's

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay's advent as Air Force chief of staff may signal a new effort to win an administration go-ahead for the 2,000-mile-an-hour B70 bomber.

LeMay, a veteran bomber pilot and first chief of the Strategic Air Command, is an exponent of the B70 and a believer in the concept of a mixed bomber-missile force as a main deterrent to enemy attack for some years to come.

An associate of the incoming staff chief said LeMay believes the B70 is needed and that the general doesn't want to see it canceled or delayed.

Keep B70
This LeMay associate contended the B70 project has not been abandoned; that the Kennedy administration has reached no final decision. He spoke in terms of presenting a case for the B70 "in court," apparently meaning the highest levels of the administration.

Generally, the source familiar with LeMay's thinking said he expected "no radical changes" when the bluff, vigorous, 54-year-old general takes over from retiring General Thomas D. White July 1.

LeMay has been vice chief of staff for four years, the source noted, and thus has worked with White in developing the policies and practices now in effect.

White Like's
But where White was an appointee of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, LeMay is President Kennedy's choice—and thus may have more influence at the top of the current administration than White could exert.

Presumably, LeMay could exert that influence in the direction of gaining support for the B70, which Kennedy has proposed cutting back—at least for the present.

In his military budget message to Congress nearly two months ago, Kennedy recommended cutting back the project by $138 million to $220 million in the book-keeping year starting July 1.

Texans Win Control Of Alleghany Corp.

Murchison Brothers Victorious In Fight Against Allen Kirby

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The epic "battle of millionaires" for control of the $6.7-billion financial empire ruled by Alleghany Corp. ends today with a victory for the insurgent Murchison brothers.

Never before had a proxy fight been waged for such stakes. All that remained was formal announcement of the margin in stockholder votes they rolled up over vanquished management forces led by Allan P. Kirby, outgoing chairman.

Counting disputed proxies, it was expected to top 800,000. Disregarding them, it was still well over a half million, informed sources said.

Unanswered, however, was this question: By winning the battle, did John D. Murchison, 39, and Clint, 37, win the war? Paradoxically, the outcome left Kirby, rich and proud, owning nearly 35 per cent of Alleghany's 9,244,970 common shares, a holding larger than that of the corporation's new rulers and their associates combined.

"Look Down Throats" In the lexicon of poker, Kirby was "looking down the throats" of the victors. The best indication was that he would bide his time, spurning the Murchisons' expected offer of representation on the board.

Kirby, 68, reputedly worth $300 million built on a Woolworth 5-and-10 cent store inheritance, stayed away from today's thrice-recessed session of Alleghany's May 1 annual meeting.

Finish Count The count of proxies was finished only last weekend. The dissident Texans whose father, fabulous oilman and investor Clint W. Murchison Sr., once was a Kirby business ally, swept all nine director berths—the seven elected by common stock votes and the two chosen by preferred shareholders. The Murchison forces planned to assemble in New York on Wednesday to take over officially, probably by installing an interim crew of new corporate officers.

Want McCloy? One report had them angling for services of John J. McCloy, former New York banker and government official, as directing head of the company.

Robert B. Anderson, a former secretary of the Treasury and now a special partner in a Wall Street investment firm, was another possibility.

Alleghany controls the $2.5-billion New York Central Railroad, and Investors Diversified Services, a $3.7-billion, Minneapolis-based investment company complex.

In addition, it has multimillion-dollar holdings in the Baltimore and Ohio and Missouri Pacific railroads, Webb & Knapp Inc., giant New York realty firm, and Transamerica Corp., an insurance holding company.

Three Men Deny Drunken Driving

Three men denied drunken driving charges in Municipal Court Monday.

Robert Knoke, 18, route 1, Shiocton, was arrested by Oaigamie County police in Shiocton Monday after police went to investigate an accident. Knoke drove his car on State 54, over a farm driveway and a lawn and into a power pole, police said.

Appleton police arrested Lester F. Erdman, 35, 122 S. Weimar St., Friday after he became involved in an accident. When police got to the scene at 1700 E. Newberry St., they found Erdman's car had run into a power pole.

Robert J. Marx, 20, 508 S. Story St., was stopped by Appleton police Thursday for speeding on College Avenue near the bridge. Police said they clocked him at 44 m.p.h. in a 25 mile zone. Marx also denied a speeding charge.

All posted $150 bonds on the drunken driving charges. Marx posted a $50 bond on the speeding charge. Trial dates will be set June 22.

Beat Bushes for Votes

Murchison Brothers' Victory is Attributed to Perfect Planning

BY ROGER LANE

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Murchisons of Texas, long powerful in oil, gas and southwestern finance, rooted their dynasty in Wall Street today.

Pleasant and outwardly easy-going, John D. Murchison, 39, a second generation member of the famous clan, personified their interests.

John captained an alert, nervous and faultlessly organized team of young businessmen that took on and beat a Manhattan big leaguer, Allan P. Kirby, 68, whose fortune is estimated at $300 million.

The Murchisons topped Kirby from the post in Alleghany Corp., apex of a $6.7 billion railroad and investment company empire, in America's richest proxy fight measured by assets involved.

The Murchisons won with an outfit written off by a Kirby lieutenant in mid-campaign, as a "venetian put together of glue, string, turpentine and wind."

The Kirby group then was just completing a million-share, $13 million Alleghany stock-buying spree, the biggest thing of its kind in 32 years.

The unique Murchison band later was likened to the perfectionist political troops that helped sweep then-Sen. John F. Kennedy to the Democratic presidential nomination last summer.

Made Fortune John and his brother Clint, 37, are sons of aging and ailing — but still fabulous — Clint W. Murchison Sr. who made a fortune in oil 40 years ago and multiplied it in a variety of other fields.

The father took no active part in the proxy fight. But it was he who a decade ago in Dallas started to shape the nucleus of the winning combination. John and Clint were just getting on their feet in the business world.

John, a fighter pilot overseas in World War II, was about three years out of Yale University. Clint Jr. recently had taken a master's degree in engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Out of the father's beginning grew the loose-knit Investments Management Corp., formed to focus supervision after the Murchison interests spread to insurance, finance company, water utility, book publishing and other diverse ventures.

At the core, "floating" within the corporate framework, as one put it, there gathered eight or nine smart, personable and aggressive young businessmen. Oddly, two of them were New Yorkers with close family ties in the financial district.

Meticulous planning, careful organization, astute analysis and liberal use of credit became their main stocks in trade.

Education Board Seeks Means To Meet Morgan School Growth

Orthopedic, Special Education Units Will Present Some Future Problems

The Appleton board of education last night asked Supt. Royce E. Kurtz to recommend a way to accommodate future growth of the orthopedic, special education and administration departments which now use Morgan School.

The board also approved a landscape plan for Madison Junior High School, lighting for Appleton High School auditorium and gymnasium entrances, deeper footings than planned for Foster School addition and turning over Whispering Pines School to the city on Aug. 1, 1962.

Kurtz said the purchasing agent, administration mimeograph and two special classes for slow learners are in the Morgan basement. These can be moved upstairs next school year, when two intermediate classes will move from Morgan to the new Edison, but "you have to give some place within a few years, the superintendent said.

More Facilities Attachment of rural districts to Appleton for school purposes will speed the need for more facilities, he added.

Possibilities are building an orthopedic wing on a new school or building administration building, Kurtz said, pointing out that ground floor facilities are best for orthopedic classes. Morgan School would be adequate for the administration almost indefinitely, he said.

There isn't time to plan an orthopedic wing on the southeast elementary school, scheduled for construction next year, but the wing could be put on the elementary school to be built in the northwest part of the city in about 1966, Kurtz said.

It makes more sense to move classes out of Morgan than to build for the administration, said Mrs. Myrl Davis, board president.

34 Shade Trees The plan drawn by Holtz Landscape Service for Madison Junior High includes 34 shade trees and shrubs costing $524 plus labor and fertilizer, or a total of $619. Holtz will do the planting and be paid with money from the Peabody bequest fund.

The plan calls for maples, junipers, yews, flowering crabs, red leaf plums, burning bushes, honey locust and a cluster of white birch. The shrubbery will be placed so it doesn't block any windows.

Six cylindrical hanging light fixtures costing a total of less than $250 will be installed at the high school entrances. More lights also may be installed along the side of the auditorium, board members indicated. The budget has $2,000 for the lights, a figure based on previous estimates for post lights.

Soil Conditions Soil conditions under the Foster wing are not as they were expected, architect George G. Narovec informed the school administration. The board will approve a change order for deeper foundation when it learns the exact cost, which business affairs director William R. Knuth said would not be much.

The two-room Whispering Pines School will be used for refinishing furniture until the summer of 1962. The board will notify the city that it may negotiate for sale of the property.

The board also approved removal of a box elder tree on the Washington School grounds.

State Sells Bonds For New Offices

$17 Million Issue Sold Through Wisconsin Dummy Corporation

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
MADISON — Acting through a "dummy" corporation, the state government Monday sold a $17-million bond issue to a Chicago underwriting firm and pushed the total of such extra-legal state debt to nearly $100,000,000.

Receipts from the bond sale will be used to erect big, new office buildings at Madison and Milwaukee to house state offices and employees of expanded state departments that are spilling out of existing quarters.

The state building commission devised a new corporation entity for the issuance of the bond issue, the largest single sale of state securities to date. It is called the Wisconsin State Building Corporation.

The bonds will bear interest at an average rate of slightly more than 3.55 per cent, over a period of 30 years.

The building commission head, Gov. Nelson, and now controlled by Republican legislative members, accepted the bid of Blyth and Co. of Chicago, on the recommendation of the state investment commission.

"This is a very favorable interest rate under existing market conditions," reported Charles Jacobson of the state investment agency, after he and his associates had analyzed the bid.

Jacobson said that the state could have expected to pay about 3.80 per cent, because the corporation involved is offering its first bonds and because of the comparatively large size of the issue.

World of Tomorrow Will Have Wonders Built With Steel

NEW YORK (AP)— Want a peek at the world of tomorrow? Steelways, magazine of the American Iron and Steel Institute, suggests you will see.

Shopping centers with automatic monorail service for the convenience of customers. Portable solar grills where steaks can be charcoaled without charcoal. All-steel cantilever homes with swimming pool and heliport on the roof.

The magazine says these are some of the ideas that have come from industrial designers, who are being urged by the steel industry to follow design principles which take advantage of steel's range of characteristics. It's part of a program to sell more steel by spreading knowledge of the metal among industrial designers.

"Umm. Good to the Last Drop," was what Daniel Wilms, route 1, Neenah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilms, thought as he quaffed a carton of milk during the Rural Youth Day picnic lunch. More than 5,000 boys and girls jammed Erb Park for an afternoon of contests.

No Competitive Bids

The rate is somewhat higher than most municipal bond issues being sold in Wisconsin currently, but such bonds are "full faith and credit" obligations, meaning that the total tax resources of the community are pledged to redeem them. The state "dummy" corporation bonds are secured only by the properties they will finance and thus are expected to cost a premium.

The sale of the issue through negotiations with a single bidder caused some commission comment several months ago. When the idea of competitive bidding was proposed, but the commission, Republican and Democrat, concluded that because Blyth and Co. had a contract to be completed in the next 60 days for advisory fees in any event,

Ancient Iran Still Has Government Troubles

Second Ruling Power in Less Than Year Tumbled Last Week

BY PHIL NEWSOM
United Press International

In ancient Tehran, shiny, new automobiles have taken the place of the donkey and the camel.

On the outskirts of the city, university buildings and showy villas rise from what had been wasteland.

Since World War II, the United States has poured more than $300 million into Iran. Under the leadership of 41-year-old Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, 60 per cent of the country's oil riches annually are earmarked for a vast program of education and modernization, designed to bring Iran across a gap of more than 1,000 years.

But last week, Iran's second government in less than a year fell.

Iran, with an annual income of nearly $150 million from oil alone, was broke and in trouble.

And trouble in Iran meant potential trouble for the west.

For it is the keystone of CENTO,

Last week, the government of Premier Jafar Sharif-Imami fell after the shooting of four teachers during demonstrations for higher pay.

Rewrite Laws

Premier Ali Ammini took over, under orders from the shah to rewrite election laws to insure an honest ballot.

Iran's progress toward modern times in the last dozen years is undeniable. That the shah has been the motivating force also is undeniable.

The question is whether the progress has been fast enough and whether the shah will be granted the time he needs.

In a land once 85 per cent illiterate, schools are being built and students, once numbering less than half a million, now number nearly a million and a half.

Giant Dams

Buildozers clear the way for giant dams and waterways to reclaim the desert. Iran is to have its own steel mill. Harbors will be deepened. In land reform, the shah leads the way by giving away his own lands.

But opposed to him are the:

When Alexander Gordon introduced his gin to London in 1769, the martini had not yet been invented. So when the martini finally did arrive—around 1850—it had ready access to Gordon's remarkable dryness and flavour, and the martini's success was thus assured. Tonight, when you ask for a Gordon's martini, you'll be glad to know the gin harks back to Alexander Gordon's original formula. President Silent About Race Riots

Kennedy Gives Brother Power To 'Take All Necessary Steps'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's only public statement so far on the Alabama race riots gave the attorney general, Robert Kennedy, sweeping power to "take all necessary steps" to handle the situation.

But, for the first time in American history, the attorney general happens to be the President's brother. Robert Kennedy has kept the President informed of every step taken.

Thus President Kennedy, more than might ordinarily be the case with some other chief executive and his attorney general, must bear responsibility for what his attorney general does.

Mad at Both
So, if Southern Democrats in Congress or Southern politicians in general get sore at Robert Kennedy, they must get equally peeved at the President.

Nevertheless the President—by letting his brother do most of the talking and being fairly mild himself in his only statement—avoids angering Southerners in the way he might if he were more personally and publicly emphatic.

He has intervened directly, but quietly. For instance, in telephoning Alabama officials.

Faces Questions
Still, the question he faces—whether or not to speak out more forcefully—is both psychological and political.

Many persons felt in 1957 that if President Dwight D. Eisenhower lieve that common sense of America will never require it." But a federal court had ordered integration of a Little Rock school and, within six weeks after Eisenhower deplored the thought of using troops, Gov. Orval Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard to block integration. In the end, Eisenhower had to send federal troops into Little Rock to quell the mobs. It is possible that if Eisenhower had been a lot tougher at that time when he needs their help, circumstances that would ever induce me to send federal troops into any area to enforce orders of a federal court, because I believe that if Eisenhower are protected. This may turn the trick. If the President had taken a more vigorous position, he undoubtedly would have antagonized a number of Southern Democrats at a time when he needs their help to pass important legislation in the first Alabama Congress.

3-Year-Old Madison Girl Among Four Killed in Crashes

Four more lives have been lost on Wisconsin, including a three-year-old Madison girl. One of the victims was killed Monday while the other three died in earlier mishaps.

The deaths raised the state's toll for the year to 286, 16 more than on this day a year ago. Weenda Sue Baylor, three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Helen P. Taylor, Madison, died Monday of injuries suffered one week ago in a two-car crash at Monona. She was one of eight children riding in her mother's car when it was involved in a crash on the Madison east beltline with another automobile. Galen Lemke, 20, of Route 2, riding left Highway 32-29 west of Shawano, was killed Monday in Green Bay and crashed against a tree. The collision of his car and a truck tree. K Versus K

The meeting between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev, now scheduled for the first week of June, will not bring any sudden changes in co-existence, the cold war or the hot incidents. This is the knowledge that Americans and their allies must keep in mind. This is what we were only too anxious to forget before the Geneva meeting between President Eisenhower and Khrushchev and the proposed one scuttled by the Russians in Paris.

White House officials already have announced there will be no attempts at this meeting to settle the big issues of East-West relations, nuclear tests, Communist infiltration or space control. But there is bound to be some insistence, by those who wear rose tinted blinders, that maybe everything will be smoothed over, the men will shake hands and peace will miraculously develop all over the world. This is the biggest danger from the meeting because the disillusionment, when everything hoped for is not effected, is discouraging.

We never have come out of a summit meeting, or even one somewhere near the top of the hill, with much in the way of good news for the hope of the free world or the inspiration of those on the fence. If President Kennedy intends in Vienna to make it clear to Khrushchev that we will not, we cannot, tolerate further Red advances, it all may be worth the flight. If he can even leave the impression with Khrushchev that the Russians won't know exactly when we will back up no more or where we might counterattack the meeting could be almost successful.

But there will be efforts in the weeks ahead to insist that an easing of the cold war is the aim, that President Kennedy must assure Khrushchev that we mean no harm to Communists or the Kremlin. We tried this before. And, in the long run, action not words will be decisive.

Mental Health in Wisconsin

Sen. Raymond C. Bice, R-LaCrosse, has offered a bill to the legislature to appropriate $60,000 July 1, 1961, and annually thereafter, from the general fund for the use of Wisconsin's Psychiatric Institute for research and training in mental health problems. The same bill creates an advisory council for the Wisconsin Psychiatric Institute to be composed of the director of public welfare, the superintendent of public instruction, the state health officer, the director of the state board of vocational and adult education, and two public members. This council is to advise in relations of the institute with other public and private groups in mental health research.

Sen. Bice's bill is intended to implement the recommendations of the mental health advisory committee which was set up by the 1959 legislature to conduct a continuous review of Wisconsin's mental health program. This committee recently filed its report and recommendations.

The committee reports that Wisconsin will spend approximately $70,000,000 in state and local taxes for direct cost in the care of the mentally ill and mentally retarded during the 1959-61 biennium. It estimates that the cost will increase between $8 million and $10 million in the next biennium.

This estimate of cost does not include private care or building construction costs. Nothing is figured for lost wages due to mental illnesses or the need for public aid to families which is sometimes necessary due to extended hospitalization. It is estimated that the mental patient who does not recover costs the taxpayer about $20,000 for care and maintenance. Furthermore, there now are in Wisconsin as many hospital beds for the mentally ill as for all other diseases combined.

Thus it is quite clear that there is a very great opportunity offered by research in the field of mental illness. On a purely financial basis it is quite obvious that millions might be saved by improvement in the treatment of the mentally ill if it results in restoring even a fair percentage of patients to their place in society.

'Long Live Lumumbism!'

The dangers and futility of trying to appease dictatorial leaders are apparent in the new stalemate in the Congo.

President Kasavubu appeared to be well on the road to agreement with a majority of Congolese leaders. He had agreed to draft a constitution which would call for a strong central government. He would convene Parliament. He arrested and charged with treason. Moise Tshombe, one of the conservative opponents who had ties with Belgium.

But Antoine Gizenga, self-proclaimed successor to Patrice Lumumba, has refused to be wooed. Crying "long live Lumumbism!" he has turned down the invitation to come to a meeting of Parliament in Leopoldville and given out his own inflexible plan for unity.

Gizenga would convene Parliament at Kamina, a former air base in Katanga. A radius of 60 miles around the city would be a neutral zone and only such "neutral" troops as those from Guinea, Ghana, India, Mali, Togo, Sudan and the United Arab Republic could enter. There would be no Congolese troops, no reporters, no photographers, no officials of the United Nations.

Gizenga holds that Kasavubu's call to Parliament is illegal because Lumumba was really the chief of state and Gizenga is his successor. The fact that Kasavubu, in his role of president, deposed Lumumba long before the premier was arrested, escaped and was murdered, is immaterial to Gizenga.

Whether all of Lumumba's followers are as enthusiastic about Gizenga still remains to be seen. But he is the puppet of the Communist groups and the UAR. Trying to negotiate with him or placate him with anything less than complete power is impossible.

Communes Now Near Extinction in China

From The New York Times

Communist China's rural communes have been altered in recent months almost to the point of extinction.

When the communes were created in 1958 they were intended to make mainland China's peasants into virtually propertyless labor troops for use under centralized command in the unified cultivation of large areas of land. As the Russians predicted, these basic social units embracing from ten to fifty thousand peasants have proved to be unworkable. Shifted about in groups from one site to another, without personal attachment to land or tools, compensated with the skimmiest of mess hall rations and little else, the peasants have balked and crops have dwindled.

The communes have now been decentralized so extensively that the central commune committees exercise only a vague supervisory role. The main responsibility for production and for distributing income to the peasants has been given over to smaller units within the communes. Peasants in groups of village size now have specific plots of land to cultivate, at least for a season, and farm tools and work animals which they can keep indefinitely.

Communist China's farmers continue, however, to be essentially collectivized chattels. The new system does not permit a farmer to work for himself; instead he is directed from above and gets remuneration as a proportion of group income. He is "assigned" to a village along with land, tools and animals, and all are subject to "reassignment" if officials so decide.

It is too early to judge how well the new system is working. Very likely it will produce better results than the centralized communes, but it is doubtful if the exhausted, underfed Chinese peasant will find the changes sufficient to inspire him to any great new production effort. The need for such an effort is emphasized by reports from Hong Kong of growing unrest over food shortages.

'Wonder Why They Eased Me Out?'

People's Forum

Offers Several Questions on Merits of Proposed Airport

Editor, Post-Crescent:
To Outagamie County Citizens:

Most of us have heard something — or read something — about the controversial Outagamie County Airport proposal. We've been rather embarrassed by the strange actions of men assumed to be mature representatives of the people — both during the feuds between Winnebago and Outagamie counties, and in the county board chambers of our very own county! And we've been completely surprised by the Citizens' Group the Post-Crescent has reported to be working on a referendum proposal. (And some of us have admired their spirit in challenging the validity of the board's speedy action!)

Maybe now is the time for more of us to think seriously about this entire matter. The citizens' group may be able to answer these questions — or maybe the county board can.

1. Why did our county employ an airport consultant firm to undertake a survey of an area extending beyond our own lines, without first consulting with the other counties involved in the final report? This is a little like engaging a landscape architect to plan our yard and our neighbors' without our neighbors' knowledge or approval — the blueprint might reflect our thinking more than our neighbors'. Then we have a hostile neighbor — and wouldn't it have been nicer to talk with him about it in the preliminary stages so we'd have a better neighborhood 'round? Since Brown County's airport is a significant factor in our area's air service picture, why wasn't this port included in the survey too?

2. Why do we propose immediate construction of a new airport by our county — in an area which has two ports already in operation? The planes on a feeder line will sometimes stop at Green Bay, sometimes at Appleton, sometimes at Oshkosh. The closeness of the three ports prevents establishment of efficient service at any one port. (Even now, the worst leg of our trips is in inadequate flight timing — it isn't the drive to Oshkosh or Green Bay.) Such short-range planning as is now proposed could actually prove to be a hindrance rather than an improvement to the good air service our total area needs so desperately.

3. And are we to assume that all this time our already-heavy-taxed state simply dishes out dollars for such mass inefficiency? At no cost to us — indi-dually — or to our valuable industries?

4. Why do we insist on linking immediate airport construction by our county with the world "progress"? They hardly match! If we pursue the present plan, we've automatically relegated Appleton to the position of a "feeder line stop-off" point on the map for some years to come. We've then used land, which could otherwise become home development or industrial development territory, to create an airport which will become obsolete almost as quickly as the present site — because of the new site's closeness to the city and already-developed residential areas. (Just for once, why don't we of Appleton take advantage of an opportunity instead of renewing ancient battles? Maybe we could even direct some of our energies to the encouragement of cultural growth of our area, so badly needed — and really do our community proud!)

5. Or maybe we should really make some progress right now and plan wisely for the long-range air service needs of our community. Because if we're expecting the city's expansion, why are we contemplating an airport so near the city? If we're not expecting the city's expansion, why are we really contemplating a substantial investment and the building of an Outagamie County airport at all?

Maybe we, Appleton and all of the county, should make sure we're using foresight and wisdom — not hindsight and grudges — in planning for genuine progress.

Randall Backs All-Out War Effort

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for May 23, 1861.

The Governor's Message is before our readers. The tone is firm and patriotic. Evincing a determination that Wisconsin shall do all in its power to stay the madness of the sons of the South, he recommends the Legislature raise a million dollars to bring into immediate and active camp service six regiments, in addition to the number already called and mustered into camp, and to put the State on a complete war footing.

Besides his recommendation for the purchase of small arms, he includes six rifled cannon for the use of regiments going into the field. This we like. The art of war has reached such a high state of murderous efficiency that in self-defense the most improved engines of destruction must be secured. And while the State is being placed on a war footing, true policy would dictate the securing of rifled muskets with the sword bayonet, or, if they could be had, the Enfield rifle. In our artillery we should not stop short of rifled cannon. They proved their efficiency on Ft. Sumter.

Our Governor's recommendations have met with a hearty response of approval throughout our State, as there is but one sentiment pervading the hearts of our people, a determination that Wisconsin shall be second to no State in devotion to the Union, and that in proportion to our ability and wealth so shall the State claim its proud place with its elder sisters in the galaxy of the Union.

Nostalgic Notes on Passing of Park Hotel

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Perhaps there has been no more apt example of the changing character of the capital city of Wisconsin than the prosaic announcement lately that its owners are about to raze the historic Park Hotel, gathering place for the politicians of Wisconsin for nearly a century.

When this reporter was a cub — more years distant than he cares to remember — he trained in the Park Hotel, in a manner of speaking. The political reporter's most valued tools are as many acquaintances active in political life as he can possibly accumulate. There was a time that the best source, almost the only source, for such acquaintanceship was the ample, friendly, well-peopled circular bar of the famous Park.

It is trite to remark that an incident marks the passing of an era. Yet it happens to be precisely true that the decline of the ancient Park during the last decade or more marked the passing of an era in Wisconsin political life. Where once the politician in town for a weekend, or even for a few hours, would feel obliged to drop in at the comfortable old hotel fronting Capitol Park, and the newspaperman regarded it as an indispensable part of his daily rounds, fashions changed radically in more recent times.

ONCE UPON A TIME

Lately Madison has had a dozen or more superior hostilities, in physical terms, hotels, clubs, motels and others, and the clientele of the old Park had changed character completely. Yet when the Park opened its doors for the last day recently, some of the nos-kins, sparkplug of left wing student groups in the area, and daughter of Dave Jenkins, who for many years was an important West Coast Communist and who once directed the San Francisco Labor School, which the attorney general has listed as a Communist front, Jack Berman, one of Meisenbach's attorneys, told the press that the jury's acquittal tossed Operation Abolition "into the creek." Meisenbach said that the acquittal "put the lie to Operation Abolition."

"At a victory celebration in the Old Spaghetti Factory Meisenbach joined his attorneys, the Communist leaning sculptor Benny Bufano, and four members of his jury — including the foreman."

Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., said that if sponsors of the fund-raising drive are acting without President Kennedy's authority they "are violating the law."

"Appeasement" Seen
Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., asked if the department was going along with a policy of "appeasement" of Castro by "silent cooperation" with the fund-raising group.

The speechmaking erupted once more when Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., asked "How much more humiliation and contempt must we suffer from this communist dictator?"

While the turmoil swirled, the fund-raising committee — composed of labor leader Walter P. Reuther, Eleanor Roosevelt, and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of the former president — met with a delegation of 10 Cuban prisoners. The prisoners were paroled by Castro to come to the United States to try to negotiate the deal.

Reuther announced afterward that his group had agreed to supply the tractors, provided Castro meets certain conditions.

Reuther appealed to Americans to contribute to a fund for the tractors — which may cost as much as $17 million.

Reuther said — without contradiction from any U. S. officials — that he had been given the green light as far as the Logan Act is concerned. The Logan Act bars negotiations by private citizens with foreign powers.

State Farmers Get $4 Million Under Grain Plan

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin farmers have been paid nearly $4 million for taking corn land out of production and probably will get much more before the month ends.

The payment of $3.7 million was announced Monday by Kenneth H. Hoover, administrator of the Wisconsin Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office. He said the money went to state farmers who joined the government's new feed grain program. Funds distributed so far have been advance payments, Hoover said.

Hoover, in announcing that farmers wishing to participate in the program must register by Friday, said payments in Wisconsin may go as high as $18 million.

The latest figures show that 31,790 Wisconsin farmers, out of 119,640 eligible, have signed agreements to take 553,757 acres of corn land out of production.

Some farmers have been taking payment in corn for livestock feed. So far 20,553 bushels of government-owned corn has been taken out of storage under the program.

Bomb Threats Increase Montgomery Tension

Integration leaders, including the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta and National CORE Director James Farmer, kept in seclusion after a lengthy siege in a Negro church under protection of the National Guard and state patrolmen.

National Guardsmen who took over the city under Gov. Patterson's order of qualified martial law, Monday night quadrupled their guard at the Greyhound bus station to keep away loitering white youths. City police arrested seven youths who surrounded two Negroes in a car.

waukee, a Milwaukee workshop for the blind and a new infirmary at Northern Colony in Chippewa Falls.

Showdown Seen

But Joe E. Nusbaum, director of the department of administration, said cuts in his department also will cause either slowdowns, higher costs, or both in the building program.

Nusbaum's department lost 14 existing positions — many filled with temporary employees — and 23 proposed positions when the Joint Finance Committee cut $355,000 from the budget.

The Bureau of Engineering lost 16 hoped for positions. The bureau is almost totally occupied with work for other departments, such as the building commission.

"Some of the work can be done by private consultants," Nusbaum said, "but this will cost the state considerably more." He said one estimate received for supervisory work on the heating plant at the Madison state office building project was 40 per cent higher than if the work was done by his own staff.

Zoning Projects

Some work must be done by the department, he said. "Obviously we shouldn't have private consultants reviewing the work of other consultants. That should be done directly by state officials," said Nusbaum.

The Department of Resource Development, already behind in planning and zoning projects in 30 cities also expects to have a hard time living with its reduced budget. The department lost seven proposed new positions when it was cut $45,000.

"Every time the governor or I make a speech on the subject, we get new requests for planning assistance," said David Carley, department director. "We'll be hard pressed to meet them under our new budget."

Carley said the industrial development program also will be slowed by the cut.

Delinquent Taxpayers
One program that will not be slowed by the budget reaction is tax commissioner John A. Gronouski's drive on delinquent taxpayers.

But Gronouski said the 12 extra office auditors he asked for but did not get could have come up and slapstick antics. Her crack with more than $500,000 in added voice was one of her traditional revenue by reviewing more marks.

He was particularly critical of the refusal of the Legislature to approve a single one of seven positions he asked for management and research.

"There are many new processes we should be trying in order to cut down on our clerical help and other expenses," said Gronouski, "but we do not have the research staff to do it."

$76,000 Reduction
Gronouski's department had a total of $76,000 pared from its budget by the Legislature.

One department in the state is the answer to a harried budget cutter's dream.

The Aeronautics Commission received a $200,000 appropriation two years ago, got nothing this year, and plans to expand. Aviation gas taxes and other fees are bringing in enough revenue to put the commission on a self-supporting basis.

The state's nine state colleges and the University of Wisconsin wound up with more than $3 million less than recommended by Gov. Nelson's original budget. Holding faculty salary increases to 12 per cent over the next two years accounted for most of this.

The radio council executive director, Harold B. Mc Carthy, said he has not given up hopes for new facilities for improving the state FM network's reception in the northeast and southeast sections of the state and of going back to broadcasting seven days a week.

The council lost $72,000 in budget cuts.

Scientists Think Instrument Sattelites More Important

Feel That U. S. May be Lavishing Too Much on Man-in-Space

BY JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many soft-landed on the moon to study scientists with less money and its crust.

Eventually, after the Mars and Venus "fly by" probes, ingenious contraptions will be landed on those planets to sample and analyze their surface material and transmit their findings back to earth by radio.

The earlier planetary probes should provide information about the radiation belts — like those around the earth — which are assumed to ring Venus and Mars. Also to be launched in this decade are:

Sixth of Series

and the even costlier big booster programs than it is on strictly scientific space research.

No Skimping

Up to now it has not skimped on space science. All but a few study the sun and stars, in both of 41 earth and sun satellites visible and invisible light, from the United States to date the have carried sophisticated instruments for performing scientific experiments in near or deep space.

They have put this country far ahead of Russia in space science. But some scientists feel strongly that not enough launching rockets, satellites, and probes will be made available in the next several years for experiments needed to follow up recent discoveries and to maintain the U.S. space research lead.

Be that as it may, a lot of scientific spacecraft are scheduled for launching during the rest of this decade. These include a dozen moon exploration craft and five or more probes to the vicinity of Venus and Mars in the next few years.

Landed on Moon
Hardy instruments will be crash-landed on the moon to detect and report "moonquakes." Remotely controlled jeeps with orbit is a necessary prelude to scientific discoveries in space.

Launchings Listed

—Orbiting geophysical observatories, equipped to examine size and shape and structure of the earth from aloft.

—Orbiting astronomical observatories which will be able to study the sun and stars, in both of 41 earth and sun satellites visible and invisible light, from the vantage point of space outside the earth's obscuring atmosphere.

—Additional weather and communication satellites which are expected to improve worldwide weather forecasting and make possible, for the first time, worldwide television service.

The Space Science Board of the National Academy of Sciences said recently that man in orbit can contribute little to space knowledge or applications. Automatic or ground-controlled instruments are better at this stage, for launching during the rest of this decade. These include a dozen moon exploration craft and five or more probes to the vicinity of Venus and Mars in the next few years.

Board Comments

The board added, however, that "man in orbit is worth pursuing" because eventually it will be man himself who must explore the moon and planets. For this work, the board said, scientific instruments, and putting men in orbit is a necessary prelude to scientific discoveries in space.

Women Top TV Watchers, Report Shows

NEW YORK (AP)—Television, if repeated audience samplings are accurate, is a woman's world. Newly issued report on the make-up of the nation's viewing audience by the A. C. Nielsen Co. whose studies are considered authoritative by the industry, states that there are more adult women in the TV audience than men, teen-agers or children from morning to midnight—except for the 5-6 p.m. kiddie's hour.

Also, there are more women than men in the home audiences for Westerns (39 per cent women; 32 per cent men) and for mystery-suspense programs (45 per cent to 34 per cent)—both bread-and-butter programs presumed to have strong masculine appeal. The proportion becomes even greater when the programs are in the categories of drama (50 per cent women; 34 per cent men), variety (49 per cent to 33 per cent) and situation comedy (40 per cent to 27 per cent).

Complexion of the daytime audience is strongly feminine, as would be suspected. Between 2 and 3 p.m. women form 63 per cent of the audiences—just about the percentage which watches the soap operas.

Most popular viewing time for everybody is — logically — between 8 and 10 p.m.

Commissioner Hits Remedial Courses

Teachers Shouldn't Fail, McLeod Tells Appleton Education Board

The very existence of a summer remedial reading program for as many as 100 students in the 10th and 11th grades is a distressing "real indictment of our teaching," Appleton Board of Education member A. Neil McLeod told the board last night.

The board approved the remedial, speech, enrichment and junior and senior high school summer curriculum, asking Supt. Royce E. Kurtz to analyze the composition of remedial reading and arithmetic classes to try to find where the need for such courses originates.

"I don't think a teacher should fail to teach reading or arithmetic," McLeod said. He wondered whether the same teachers were failing year after year.

Eliminate Cause

McLeod, who teaches at the Institute of Paper Chemistry, compared education with the paper industry. "We shouldn't pride ourselves on the efficiency of handling broke," he said.

Mrs. Myrl N. Davis, board president, agreed that the board should be distressed that remedial courses are needed, but said that as long as the need exists it should be met.

Can the schools expect teachers to be 100 per cent successful in teaching reading and arithmetic? Mrs. Davis said no. McLeod said yes.

Kurtz said half of the remedial reading students attend parochial schools during the regular school term. Some of the students also may be transfers from other school systems, he said.

Cut Budget

McLeod said remedial courses should disappear from the summer school curriculum, and the budget for them should decrease by about 20 per cent a year.

Mrs. Davis said they never can be completely eliminated, and said the schools haven't adequately been taking care of the need for remedial work in past years.

The six-week course in remedial reading, beginning June 19 at Jefferson School, will accommodate about 150 third to 12th graders. Miss Lois Smith, Mrs. Helen Gaulke, Mrs. Viola W. Grunwaldt, Richard D. Goree, Kenneth McMahon and Richard F. Haas are the teachers.

Other Courses

At the same time, about 50 fourth graders will be taught remedial arithmetic by Raymond Kluever at Morgan School.

Miss Grace School will give speech instruction to about 50 children at Morgan School for five weeks beginning June 19.

About 50 fifth graders will take a science enrichment course from

First Direct Objection to 'Crash Plan'

Tobacco Institute Calls Recreational Program Inequitable

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Gov. Nelson has had the first direct and formal objection to his celebrated $50,000,000 "crash" program for the acquisition and development of a recreational land program over the next ten years.

It comes from the cigarette tax distributors of the state, complaining about the fact that he has asked the legislature to enact an additional one cent a pack tax on the "smokes" to provide the money for the outdoors development budget.

Wholly Inequitable

"It would be wholly inequitable to ask the 35 per cent of the people who smoke to pay those costs," said A. J. Madler of the Wisconsin Food and Tobacco Institute in a brief filed with the legislature. "If the program cannot be financed with hunting and fishing license fees, and permits for park users, the balance should be made up by other means."

Madler said the program was denying a week of school to fifth and sixth graders each year.

Mrs. Heil asked whether education without God could be considered complete. McLeod argued that religion is the home's responsibility, and that it could be taught after 3:30 p.m.

John A. Schneider favored the program, citing the number of years Appleton has had it and the number and sincerity of its supporters.

come from the general fund" (general taxes) he said.

Apparently sensing that the sales taxation sentiment in the legislature is growing, Madler has also asked legislators to exempt the heavily taxed commodity he represents in the event that Wisconsin makes a sales tax decision.

Half the Cost

Cigarettes are now subject to a federal tax of eight cents and a state tax of five cents per package, he reminded.

That means that more than half of the cost of the packs at retail goes for taxes, he emphasized.

The sales tax bills thus far introduced are not consistent on the inclusion of commodities already subject to excise taxes. Some of them provide exemptions for such goods, others do not.

Special Meeting Set On Dismissed Time

The board repeated previous arguments for the benefit of Mrs. Walter Heil, newly appointed member whose vote will decide the controversial question.

Franklin L. Nehs, an opponent of dismissed time, cautioned against making a precedent of reconsideration of a question. He also said there has been too much emphasis on the question of legality, which is a matter of opinion. He believes dismissed time to be illegal.

Mrs. Heil asked whether the churches don't have dismissed time classes as well as those participating in the program. He answered that the program was denying a week of school to fifth and sixth graders each year.

Mrs. Heil asked whether education without God could be considered complete. McLeod argued that religion is the home's responsibility, and that it could be taught after 3:30 p.m.

John A. Schneider favored the program, citing the number of years Appleton has had it and the number and sincerity of its supporters.

Appleton Education Board Raises Issue Of Religion Again

Six members of Appleton Board of Education last night raised again the question of dismissed time for religious instruction and called a special meeting for 1:30 p.m. Friday in hopes that all seven members will be present and the issue finally decided.

If all seven can't be there Friday, the board will meet at 7:15 p.m. May 31. Victor Sumnicht was absent last night.

Lawrence President Cites Rapid Changes in College

Student Pressure, Program Shifts Explained to Board of Trustees

Lawrence College has been changing as rapidly as the world around it, President Douglas M. Knight told the board of trustees at its annual meeting Monday in Colman Hall.

He cited several developments which influence the college. To assume that Lawrence is less important to its American so-called region because it has students from California or New York state is just as erroneous as the view that a valley publisher has betrayed its local roots because it prints textbooks for use all over the country.

Serve Region "We serve our region well only days to get into a strong college as we mediate between it and the great issues, the great urgencies of our time," he said. "Our increasing complexity and range are a strengthening of our local value, not a weakening of it."

President Knight called for three early actions by the board: To allow the college to grow another 150 or so in enrollment, to make plans for conversion to a 12-month operation of the college and to develop other areas of educational service.

He reminded the group of the dangers inherent in growth beyond a reasonable point. "The risk of crippling our intimate and personal community; of finding ourselves in the position where the educational plant might need incredible expansion and of over-committing our modest endowment so that we could actually weaken our financial base by adding more students to the college," he said.

Lawrence's future plans will be based on two associated, but in a way, opposed convictions, President Knight foresaw three changes in the educational program: "First, in what it is most appropriate for students to study and how it is best for them to come at the process; second, in the qualities of faculty interest and competence that will be increasingly called for and third, in

"first, that we have a national obligation to educate as many young people as possible; and second, that we do no good to the country unless we make possible for each of these students an education of great quality."

"I see before us some of our most exciting years," he predicted, "because we, like our river valley and our region, will be participating in the testing of the country, and indeed of the whole world, as we never have before. In this I feel no distress; but a kind of gratitude that we have reached the point where it is possible for us to consider having such an influence," he concluded.

Three Honored by State Stamp Club

Three Appleton men were honored by the Wisconsin Federation of Stamp Clubs at the 30th annual convention and exhibition at Sheboygan Saturday and Sunday.

Joseph Damon won a first award for his collection of Outagamie County Postal History and Irwin Pearl won a first award for his collection of Turkish Posts of Jerusalem. Pearl's collection also won the American Philatelic Society silver medal for the most original philatelic research.

Stephen F. Darling was reelected by the federation as representative to the National Federation of Stamp Clubs.

Pastor Raps School For Lax Attitude

Seymour Minister Charges Events Plant Seeds of 'Who Cares?' in Pupils' Minds

SEYMOUR — The Rev. W. E. Lang, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran Church, the speaker for Seymour Union High School's baccalaureate service, took the high school board of education to task for "planting the seeds of 'Who cares?' It will be covered up."

He told the commissioners at their last meeting he had "a serious" heavy heart and a disturbed mind in regard to activities in the city. Pastor Lange said two recent developments capped his worry; much heart left to preach a baccalaureate sermon and tell the students to be good," the pastor said.

Pastor Raps School For Lax Attitude

L. D. Culver, school superintendent, said he was "petrified with Pastor Lange's statement" and its inference that the board and the school administration were in league condoning the actions the clergyman complained of.

Teacher Arrested

On May 13, the high school guidance director and social problems teacher was arrested on two conduct charges. The man was held in county jail without bond until May 17 when the charges were withdrawn.

Senate Broadens School Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate today voted to broaden the $2.55 billion school aid bill to permit spending for general operating expenses of public grade and high schools.

It adopted, 51-39, an amendment by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., to permit use of the federal money for such things as bus transportation, textbooks, janitor and clerical services, and libraries.

This was the first change in the bill voted by the senate in six days of floor debate, but it was made with the support of the floor manager for the measure, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. It also was understood to have the concurrence of the Kennedy administration.

The bill originally would have limited use of the federal funds to teacher salaries and school construction. The amendment did not increase the amount of the grants.

Elm Tree Stores In Three Cities Being Picketed

The Teamsters Union has set up pickets at three thrift stores operated by Elm Tree Bakeries, 3300 W. College Ave., according to Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer of the Appleton local.

Picketing at the Appleton and Oshkosh stores began today, he said. At the Milwaukee store, picketing started late Monday, he said. The 15 long-haul drivers who were discharged a week ago on charges of insubordination are doing the picketing at the three stores and at the plant.

A National Labor Relations Board examiner has been assigned to investigate charges of unfair labor practices, filed Wednesday by the union.

Schlieve said he has been asked by the NLRB to arrange a meeting between the examiner and company officials.

The drivers joined the union after they were discharged.

Lawrence, Oshkosh Students Climax School Year Activities At Festive Formal Proms

Students from Lawrence College and Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh, danced till the wee hours Sunday morning at their formal proms.

Albee Hall on the Oshkosh campus was transformed into the legendary King Arthur's court for the "Camelot" theme dance. A patio reminiscent of medieval days was constructed outside the hall for prom-goers to enjoy.

Evening's Royalty Robert Goggins, Chilton, and Miss Maralyn Niendorf, Manitowoc, were king and queen for the event. Their royal court included Charles Buchman, Hortonville; Richard Ricco, Milwaukee; Davey Giffey, Eldorado; Judy Harstad, Oconto; Vicki Danielson, Campbellsport; Carol Trudeau, Fond du Lac; Gary Fox, and Mary Lynn Schryver.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Patterson, Lombard, Ill., reigned at Lawrence's prom held in Memorial Union. This is the first time in the history of the school that husband and wife have reigned as king and queen of the annual spring dance.

"Venetian Holiday" was the theme of the formal event.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Patterson, Lombard, Ill., reigned over Lawrence College's prom Saturday evening at Memorial Union. The young people are seniors and will graduate in June.

Ross Davis, Portland, Ore., and Kathy Dinham, Duluth, Minn., stand amid flowering trees and vines outside Lawrence Memorial Union before entering to begin the prom evening's festivities. At right, Ken King, Madison, mans the flower bedecked cafe and serves punch to Dave Mann, Lake Zurich, Ill., and Lee Miller, Seattle, Wash. Green and blue decorations carried out the "Venetian Holiday" theme.

bringing up baby hints

COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

When a baby reaches the year-old stage, some discipline is in order. But remember to make sure your rules and regulations can be understood by your child, and that he is mentally and physically capable of meeting your requirements. Self-feeders have enough trouble getting spoon to mouth, without learning manners at the same time.

A baby bent on exploration doesn't understand an exasperated "no." . . . is more apt to respond if you distract him.

Discipline and good behavior are best taught by the way you handle yourself. A toddler will learn faster by imitation than education he doesn't understand.

Self-feeders date on Gerber Junior Foods. For each and every tempting variety has flavor to spare . . . is seasoned in semi-grown-up fashion to please more educated palates. Then too, they have an evenly minced, more grown-up texture that helps baby make the transition to table food easily. Most important, they're specially processed to preserve the utmost in nutritive values. Has baby had the Spaghetti with Beef, Sweet Potatoes or Fruit Dessert lately? Just 3 of over 40 divine junior dishes.

Rx for toddler jealousy. If your toddler or pre-schooler reverts to acting like baby brother or sister wants a bottle instead of a cup, etc., it's a good idea to go along with the idea occasionally, but not too often. If you praise the grown-up things he can do, that baby can't, he'll want to be "grown-up" more often than not.

Flavor surprise for the light of your eyes: Gerber Creamed Junior Cottage Cheese with Pineapple. Mild, delectable cheese teams up with mellow morsels of pineapple for good nutrition in the most flavorful form imaginable. High in protein, it's also a good source of riboflavin and calcium. 17-Year-Old Wife Troubled By Mate's 3 a.m. Homecoming

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Ask a wife have the right to ask her husband where he is going when he leaves the house after supper with no explanation? Does she have the right to ask him where he comes in at 3 a.m.?

Landers have been married less than a year. He started this about six weeks ago. I didn't want to be a nag or seem nosy, so I said nothing at first. Now I'm beginning to wonder. Last night when he left right after supper, I asked him where he was going. He said he was not a child and that it wasn't any of my business. I am 17 and he is 19. I need your advice. I can't talk to my mother about this because she was against our marriage.—Alone Nights

Dear Alone: Welcome to the club — another couple of kids who don't know any more about the responsibilities of marriage than a hog knows about Sunday.

You bet a wife has the right to know where her husband is going — and where he has been. Marriage should mean mutual interests and doing things together. He should be taking you with him. Talk this problem over with your clergyman at once. Unless something is done to grow you two up in a hurry, your marriage is headed for the graveyard.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Usually you get letters from women who go with men for years and can't get them to put the ring on that important finger. Well, here's a switch for you. Please tell me what to do.

My girl is 29, very attractive, intelligent and has all the qualities I want in a wife. We've been going together for six years and I've been begging her for at least five of those six years to marry me. She always has had a long list of excuses. I told her last night it was next June or never.

She said she couldn't possibly leave her mother in that big house alone. Although I always swore I'd never move into her mother's home, this may be the only way to get the girl. What do you say? — Bob bical cord has never been severed. Her mother probably pumps hot soup through it three times a day. Tell her goodbye.

Dear Bob: I say no. The um-

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son who is away at college phoned and asked if he could bring three classmates home for the weekend. One guest was a fellow 20 years of age. The other two were girls both 19. I said it would be just fine since we have a large home and can accommodate three extras easily when our daughter is not at home. (She is away at school.)

They all arrived in good spirits, seemed to have a very fine time, and left this morning. I was surprised to find that the girls left their beds unmade and the room in a mess. My daughter's belongings were scattered all over. The girls had used her cosmetics, nail polish and remover, combs, brushes, hair clips, and they emptied a bottle of cologne. My son will be wanting to invite them again. What shall I say? — Undecided Mother

Dear Undecided: Say "Yes" . . . if he will permit you to give the girls some advance instructions on proper behavior for weekend guests. Can your honeymoon bring on a "psychosomatic cold"?

Yes, claims Dr. Daniel Cappon or Toronto, after a study of 700 cases. Colds are one way in which some people respond to inner emotional conflicts. Honeymooners often develop "colds" as ways of responding to the difficult sexual adjustments of that period. Colds are often used as a substitute for tears. They are a fairly common way of relieving tensions. This study found that emotionally upset persons have more than twice as many colds as well adjusted people, and that their colds lasted longer.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

WON'T USE GUEST TOWELS

I am wondering if you would include an article on the use of guest towels. I have many lovely embroidered linen towels which I like to use. My guests who are otherwise meticulous will use our family towels or they don't use any. I think they feel they are saving laundering. I dislike paper towels. How can we bring this to our guests' attention?

Louise Davis Answers: Those who don't use guest towels are trying to be thoughtful but it doesn't solve your problem. If you know in advance that you will be having guests, how about removing all other towels and wash cloths too? If you are inclined to be a delightful nonconformist with a sense of humor thrown in and if you think your friends would go along with the gag, how about putting up an amusing sign which would encourage everyone to be lavish with your guest towels? Here is a suggestion: "Use up these towels, I like to iron!"

RETURNING GIFT

I have been trying to break off with a man whom I had been dating and thought I had succeeded until I received in the mail a wrist watch. I don't like this man, but what can I do without hurting his feelings? I suggest that you mail the watch back and insure it. At the same time, write him a short and polite note that you feel that you can't keep the watch, "but thank you just the same."

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

How Does Your Beauty Grow?

What price a lovely garden, when the gardener ends up seedy? The usual toll in grubby hands, weathered skin and a head of straw seems a high price. Surely only a beauty-wastrel would pay it!

Fortunately for the waste-nots, it need not be paid. There are many ways to keep yourself blooming, while making your garden bloom:

To protect your hair and complexion from overexposure to sun, never fail to wear a shading hat and to apply suntan lotion to your face. Wear long-sleeved shirts and jeans, unless you are deliberately courting a tan. Then coat the arms and legs with sun lotion, too. Whenever possible wear gloves — cotton for dry work, latex for wet. And do slather on hand lotion before donning gloves. It's a most effortless beauty treatment.

Before performing those few tasks that require bare hands, apply a silicon lotion and run the nails over a bar of damp soap until the undersides are thickly covered. Together, soap and silicon form a tough barrier against grime.

Avoid scratched arms or snagged sleeves with protective "cuffs." You can make them in seconds. Simply cut a crescent from a sheet of heavy paper, as deep as your forearm; wrap the paper around your arm and secure with a strip of waterproof plastic tape.

Then, as the saying goes: "Gather ye rosebuds." When they've faded, you'll still be blossoming! (Copyright, 1961)

Paris Trip Well Suited To First Lady's Tastes

BY FRANCES LEWINE
EDITOR'S NOTE — In a sense, Mrs. Kennedy's trip to Paris next week with the President will be like going home. Of French descent, she speaks the language fluently and has studied at the Sorbonne. Frances Lewine, who covers the distaff side of the First Family for The Associated Press and will be going to Paris with the Kennedys, examines Mrs. Kennedy's ties with France in the following article.

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the French take to Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy as she has long taken to them, there will be plenty of excitement in Paris next week. Mrs. Kennedy has lived in Paris as a student and has traveled in France as a devotee of French history, art and literature. On May 31, she will be returning as America's First Lady, joining the President for a major state visit abroad.

Mrs. Kennedy has ancestral ties in France. She speaks the language fluently and she already is acquainted with France's president, Charles de Gaulle.

It probably would be hard to find a place better suited to the tastes and interests of the 31-year-old First Lady. Mrs. Kennedy, just a little more than four months in the White House, already is eclipsing the official foreign travel records of most of her predecessors, with the obvious exception of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She will be the first since Mrs. Woodrow Wilson to accompany her husband on an official visit to Paris.

Mrs. Kennedy has the benefit of knowing what to expect after last week's two-day state visit to Canada. The Kennedys' first trip outside the country since inauguration.

In Ottawa, the capital of a country with many French-speaking inhabitants, Mrs. Kennedy won high praise from top officials and drew admiring crowds on her brief public appearances.

Fashion-conscious, young beautiful and new in the role of first lady, Mrs. Kennedy undoubtedly will create wide interest abroad. She proved in Canada that she has something of the drawing power and popularity of a movie star.

Mrs. Kennedy was last in France on a visit in August 1959. She first went there years ago, and spent her junior year in college studying at the Sorbonne.

Ancestral Tie
On her father's side, Mrs. Kennedy traces her ancestry back to France. A great-great-grandfather, Andre Eustache Bouvier, came from the neighborhood of Grenoble in southeastern France.

When John F. Kennedy was elected president last November, Mrs. Kennedy received congratulations from officials in several French towns, indicating the Bouvier family came from their community. But the White House has

Our Children

Prepare Children Early In Basic Household Skills

BY ANGELO PATRI
The constant cry of healthy children is "What can I do?" They are brimful of energy that must be used to forward their growth, growth of body and growth of mind, of trained intelligence. They must have something to do. For the very young ones the chief activity takes the form of play. They learn many useful facts of life in their seemingly aimless play which is their serious business.

The little ones learn to hold, to let go, to feel and hold and make things do what they want them to, if possible. All this is basic to the skills they will achieve later on and which may become their life work.

Need Training
As the children grow in experience and physical, mental ability, they want to do the work they see adults doing and for this they need to be taught and trained. True, once the excitement of the new idea wears off they make protest about working. For children their first experiences of helping, putting the table silver away, each lot in its proper place, is play. Later on, when they have widened their fields of interest this "helping" turns into

If you've been paying attention, you know that South started with a singleton spade and five trumps. Your side is going to make no tricks in spades or hearts, and only one trick in diamonds. You need three club tricks to defeat the contract.

If you could wait for South to play the clubs, you might hope for him to misplay the suit. The trou-

An about-face reveals a pair of deep box pleats that start at the neck and gradually widen below. You must go to after three club tricks to add pretty fullness to the skirt. PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Will a neutered male dog stay home? Mrs. Claude Brown, Brookfield, Ohio.

A. Yes, it will. But the operation is not performed for this reason. It is considered cruel to deprive an animal of one of its natural instincts for any but a serious reason. When it is necessary to save the dog's life, as it is in some cases of cancer of the genital system, by all means operate. Working dogs who might be distracted from their job by sex (for example, dogs tending sheep or cattle) used to be neutered routinely. Today with modern methods of training, the operation is rarely performed, even on working dogs. I nearly always advise against it, unless the dog's life hangs in the balance.

(Address your question to Dr. Geske and Mrs. George Crowell. Moller in care of this paper. He will answer selected inquiries in his column, but cannot reply to Wiegand, Kenneth Foth, Harold Turner and William Russell.)

Young Hobby Club Pocket Mirrors Can Make A Homemade Kaleidoscope

BY CAPPY DICK

Two small pocket mirrors that have no frames and a few scraps of brightly-colored paper are all you need to have a heap of fun with a homemade kaleidoscope.

Borrow the mirrors from Mother or your sister. The kind of mirrors they carry in their purses are best. To make them easy to use for this stunt, fasten them together with a strip of transparent tape so they resemble the covers of an open book (Figure 1). Get permission before using the mirrors and taping them together.

A picture from a magazine that has lots of colors in it will furnish you with all the bright-colored paper you will need. Cut the picture into small, irregular pieces—triangles, crescents, discs, bars and so on. You will need 20 or 30 such pieces.

Place the pieces of paper in a group on a sheet of white paper. Stand the mirrors back of them as in Figure 2. The papers should be inside the wedge formed by the sides of the mirrors. Much to your surprise you will find the mirrors reflecting the various pieces four five six or more times. By changing the angle of the mirrors, the more reflections you will see.

Other amazing sights can be produced by standing the mirrors on a colored magazine picture and slowly moving them toward you. The array of changing colors will be fascinating to watch.

Sun Hats Fun, Easy

Gay, mad sun hats are something any female can wear, whether she is tall, short, slim or heavy. They're also easy and inexpensive to make.

All you need is a natural straw beach hat, some bias binding, rickrack and glue. In less than an hour you have a marvelous hat to wear for sun and conversation. Use any shape you wish and follow the trim ideas below. Just keep in mind that trim yardage varies slightly with the different hat shapes. You can easily figure out the difference by using a tape measure on the hat wherever I have indicated trim.

For tassel hat, top illustration, you'll need:

One straw hat, wide brimmed 2 1/2 yards jumbo rickrack, rose, 3 1/2 yards double fold bias tape, rose; 4 1/4 yards double fold bias tape, black; glue; thread

Glue a row of rickrack around the edge of the brim. Glue two rows of rickrack around the crown with one row of black bias tape in between. Points of rickrack just meet edges of bias tape.

To make tassels: Cut bias tape into four 8-inch strips. Place one strip on top of the other, fold in half, wind and stitch thread around folded top of bias tape securely. This gives you eight strands of bias tape forming a tassel.

Make four tassels in black and four tassels in rose. Tack to hat three leaves to the vine, gluing the two cut ends of each leaf underneath the vine.

To make scarlet buds, cut a strip of rickrack about 6 inches long (count 8 points of rickrack for perfect size). Make a line of gathering stitches along center of rickrack the entire length of the strip.

Pull thread and shirr tightly. Twist and turn shirred strip until you form a cluster that looks like a bud. Make about 14 buds and tack to various parts of the vine. Place some in clusters of buds and tack to various parts of the vine. Place some in clusters of three buds, others in two and some single.

If you can find a cooie hat with two metal eyelets on the crown, all the better. Slide a 45-inch strip of green tape through one eyelet and tuck under the underside of hat, up and over the outside of crown, then match the rest of the roof. This through the other eyelet and back half way. We didn't know it until in my opinion it is the most practical way to at least improve the present situation.

Interest Fails To Dwindle in Eichmann Trial

Israelis Trying To Learn All They Can of Nazi Crimes

JERUSALEM (AP) — The intense interest of the people of Israel in the Adolf Eichmann trial has not lessened after more than a month of testimony.

Several of the country's 25 daily newspapers have increased the number of pages to print the full reports demanded by their readers.

The Israel broadcasting station, "Kol Israel," carries long reports in its news bulletins and broadcasts extensive excerpts of the day's highlights each evening.

The station gets many requests to report the day's live broadcasts direct from the court room instituted at the beginning of the trial. The state radio refused "because this would tend to give the proceedings the aspect of a show trial."

Seats Occupied

The seats reserved for the general public in the court room, are always occupied. The 700-seat "Raucoenne Hall" near the court, especially set aside for TV-screening of the trial, are filled daily.

It doesn't seem to be just a lust for sensation that impels Israelis to follow the trial reports. There seems to be an inner urge to learn as much as possible about the gruesome reality of the fate of European Jews under the Nazi regime—the reality which forms the background of the trial. Many in Israel lost relatives in the Nazi pogroms.

Sad one Israeli "How can we complain that the other nations of the world didn't know very much about it and were inclined to forget all of it? Many of us Jews, too, had only a general over-all picture, but never before has the story been told so completely, with so many illustrative details with such a thorough documentation to prove the truth."

Much Discussion

There is much public discussion on the trial and its implications. The number of those who were critical of holding it in Israel has doubtlessly diminished. The quiet competent way it is being directed by the president of the court, Justice Moshe Landau, may have contributed towards this change in public opinion.

On the other hand, apprehensions that the trial might create a new nationalism and xenophobia and turn the average Israeli particularly against all that is German, seem not to be justified. Though there are quite a number of German observers and journalists now in the country, there are no indications so far showing that they were treated less friendly than any other guests.

Scottish Police Fight Pacifists

DUNDEE, Scotland (AP) — Scottish police pitched into pacifist demonstrators at the U.S. Polaris submarine base on Scotland's Holy Loch Monday to clear the way for a consignment of coconuts.

About 100 anti-nuclear demonstrators, squatting outside a pier entrance, barred the way to a truck bringing coconuts to the Polaris base ship Proteus. Most had stayed there all night after being repelled in an attempt to board the ship yesterday.

About 50 policemen marched into the seated men and women and began dragging them off. The pacifists sang "we shall not be moved."

Police tempers were thin when each demonstrator who was hauled off ran or crawled back into the crowd.

Men and women were dragged by arms or ankles through the dust and clumped at the side of the road. Shirts, jeans and skirts were mired in the melee.

On the orders of their leaders, none of the demonstrators offered any resistance.

Supervisors Get Resolution For Referendum on Airport

After haggling for more than an hour over its language, supervisors began hearing speeches from citizens supporting the resolution and adjourned at noon with the outcome still in doubt.

Petitions filed with County Clerk Mollie Pfeiffer just before the board convened are purported to contain the names of 3,737 persons, who want the airport issue brought to a public vote.

Railway Asks Discontinuance Of Night Run

C&NW Proposes Halting Chicago To Green Bay Train

The Chicago and North Western Railway Company Monday proposed the discontinuance of an overnight passenger train which carries an average of only seven passengers.

Primarily a mail and express run, the train is one of a pair of overnight trains, Nos. 217 and 224, which the railway proposes to discontinue between Chicago and Green Bay serving the Fox Cities. In a petition filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission the railway explained that all of the express and most of the mail can be handled on other trains between the two cities.

Passenger equipment on the two runs include a single coach and sleeping car.

Train Times

C. F. Stewart, general passenger traffic manager, Chicago, explained that No. 217 leaves Chicago at 10:35 p.m. and arrives Green Bay at 6:25 a.m. Southbound. No. 224 leaves Green Bay at 8:20 p.m. arriving Chicago at 4:15 a.m. The trains do not operate north of Milwaukee to Green Bay on Sundays. The sleepers do not operate on Saturday, Stewart said.

In 1960 train crew costs alone were $147,673, he said, and passenger revenues did not exceed $60,000. No. 224 averaged only 7 riders each night during the first three months of this year, and No. 217 averaged 11 riders.

In its petition to the I.C.C., the railway stated that net minimum annual savings will exceed $400,000.

Make Economies

"The railroad must be permitted to make such economies as elimination of these trains if it is to remain in the transportation business at all. The continued operation of these trains clearly constitutes an undue burden on interstate commerce and is not required by the public convenience and necessity," the petition stated.

According to the petition, the two trains are to be discontinued on July 6, 1961.

If the petition is allowed there will still be northbound trains out of Chicago at 4:10 p.m. and 9 p.m. A southbound train would leave Green Bay about 11:30 p.m. It now departs at 1:25 a.m.

Success Defined for Chamber of Commerce

MENASHA — Success is more by children as basic rules for such a business, making money or cess. One was a paper written by an individual belonging to the "right" club. K. R. Boyer, assistant vice president, public relations, Wisconsin Telephone Co., he wanted to be an advertising man because he liked it.

Here, this 10-year-old boy, whether he knew it or not, set down one of the basic rules for success. Boyer said, "Since success is 99 per cent mental attitude, we must first of all like what we are doing before we can even begin to be a success."

Gives Definitions

The second example was a letter written by a 6-year-old girl to her father telling him she loved and missed him.

"Many a man has achieved success because someone gave him the desire to live up to their belief in him," Boyer emphasized. "Success is not arriving at the summit of a mountain as a final destination. It is a continuing upward spiral of progress—it is perpetual growth."

Giving another definition, Boyer said "success is using the full power with which all of us have been endowed by God and which, all too often, we do not use to the greatest possible extent."

Youth Admits Series Of Crimes in County

30 Warrants Charge James Roberts, 18, With 7 Burglaries, Four Stolen Cars

The young stolen car driver that police captured Thursday has spilled a story of crime that involves seven burglaries, four stolen cars and 13 cases of property damage.

Outagamie County Dist. Atty. Nick Schaefer today issued 30 warrants against James G. Roberts, 18, 908 W. Grant St.

The crime spree that Roberts narrated started in Appleton Nov. 6, 1960. All of the crimes were committed in Appleton. The spree ended when Appleton police spotted a stolen car and chased it. Six squad cars found the car smashed and abandoned. Roberts fled across a field with police on his heels and was found hiding under some farm machinery near a barn.

Roberts admitted in Municipal Court Monday burglarizing Appleton Senior High School the night he stole the car. He got a screwdriver, a brace and bit and some keys from the high school. He was linked with the break-in when the keys, which had been reported missing, were found in his possession and identified.

Pattern Unfolds

As Roberts confessed, a pattern unfolded. In two cases the youth said he stole a car from a residential driveway and then proceeded to use the car in burglaries. On one night he set out with a gun and shot holes in 12 car windows and windows of two buildings.

The car chase Thursday was not the first Roberts had been involved in, he said. The young man admitted being chased by Permission to install a bulkhead along the shore of Little Lake Butte Des Morts at Fritze Park was granted by the state public service commission last week. The town plans to fill in behind the bulkhead which will extend about 236 feet along the shore.

Transfer $113,000

To accomplish these two projects, the Town Board will transfer $60,000 from its general fund to the park fund. Another $50,000 will be transferred to the highway fund and $3,000 to the snow fund.

State May be Called in on Drainage Case

Ricker Bay Road Resident Asks to Buy Land to Solve Trouble

NEENAH — The State Board of Health may be called in on a drainage problem in the Ricker's Bay area of the Town of Neenah, Town Chairman Laurel Heaney said today. He has instructed the town's health officer, Mrs. George Humberdy, to check on the situation.

Harold Brautigan, one of the residents in the area, appeared with his attorney at the Town of Neenah Board meeting to protest drainage in the area, which he called a "mosaic of breeding places." Brautigan owns a "landlocked parcel" of land which is separated from the Ricker's Bay road by a perfect strip running parallel to the road. He asked the Town Board to condemn this buffer strip so that he could get to his property and solve the drainage problem.

Purchase Rejected
Brautigan said he had offered to purchase the strip but his offer was rejected. If he could get access to his property, he would drain it.

Town officials said they could not condemn the 29-foot strip for a public road because the 30-foot wide Ricker's Bay road is a private road. The residents in the area would have to secure that strip themselves before the town could take over the road. The road must be at least 49½ feet wide before the town can take it over, Brautigan was advised. Some residents have not been in favor of turning the road over to the town because they fear it will be joined to the Payne's Point road to become a through road.

May Form Committee
Also meeting with the board on the Ricker's Bay road problem was Robert Killoran.

Heaney said he was considering appointment of one representative from each private road in the town to form a committee to consider the private roads problem, particularly regarding maintenance. Towns are forbidden by law to handle the maintenance of private roads although they are allowed to plow the snow.

Upper Michigan Reports Business Off $19 Million

IRON RIVER, Mich. (AP)—Retail operators were told today that tourist business last year in Michigan's Upper Peninsula was off $19 million, compared with 1959, but that visitors still spent a total of $132,872,056.

The decline was reported at the spring meeting of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association, and the information came from a Michigan State University tourist and resort specialist, Robert McIntosh.

Winnebago Trustees Consider Union Plan

Meeting Set Up to Discuss Requests of Hospital Employees

OSHKOSH — Trustees of the Winnebago County Hospital and Pleasant Acres Home have taken under consideration a proposed working rules agreement submitted by Local 1230 of the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees.

A meeting is planned in June with Robert W. Swanson, representative of the union, to discuss the union's request. The union contends it represents 66 employees which is more than a cete an extra day's vacation. The union also asked for a sick leave policy of a day per month accumulative up to 60 days for illness or off-duty injury. A fund on a four-days on, four-days off arrangement. This plan is agreeable with the union.

Equal Pay

The union, however, has asked that the merit system be abolished, that a job classification and description plan be established, a conference also was requested with pay according to the job. The union also asked for a classification and equal pay for equal work.

It also requested that the salary now being paid for the jobs be the starting rates, that there with a replacement help during vacations, that pay days be twice a month instead of once a month, legal bargaining agent for the county hospital and Pleasant Acres Home employees has not months to three months, and that been held yet but the union consents it has 66 out of the 80 eligible employees.

Upholds State Resolution Ask Port Referendum

MADISON (AP)—Regulation of roadside advertising along the Interstate Highway system in Wisconsin is a constitutional exercise of the state's police power, Circuit Judge Edwin M. Wilkie ruled today.

But he said, several parts of the state administrative code set up to regulate the signs are invalid because they are "arbitrary and unreasonably discriminatory."

Judge Wilkie ruled in a test case involving the 1959 law to regulate billboards along the Interstate system. The case was brought by Warren and Wayne Fuller, who operate a restaurant along I-94 in Racine County.

Discriminatory Aspects
The court called arbitrary and discriminatory sections that would prohibit:

Signs within 1,000 feet of one another, or more than two signs within a mile.
More than six signs two to five miles in advance of an exit roadway.

More than an average of one sign per mile in a space more than five miles from an intersection.

Judge Wilkie also ruled invalid licensing subsections that would allow issuing of permits to the first applicant, right of renewal of a permit and the right of transfer of permits or assigned locations. The court said it found the licensing provisions "smack of monopoly, special privilege and favoritism."

The federal government program would pay the state an extra million dollars annually if it provides billboard controls on the federal pattern.

Winnebago Trustees Consider Union Plan

Meeting Set Up to Discuss Requests of Hospital Employees

OSHKOSH — Trustees of the Winnebago County Hospital and Pleasant Acres Home have taken under consideration a proposed working rules agreement submitted by Local 1230 of the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees.

A meeting is planned in June with Robert W. Swanson, representative of the union, to discuss the union's request. The union contends it represents 66 employees which is more than a cete an extra day's vacation. The union also asked for a sick leave policy of a day per month accumulative up to 60 days for illness or off-duty injury. A fund on a four-days on, four-days off arrangement. This plan is agreeable with the union.

Other Requests

Establishment of a grievance procedure and the right for an employee to have the union established, that a job classification and description plan be established, a conference also was requested with pay according to the job. The union also asked for a checkoff plan for initiation fee and union dues and the right for the union representative to accompany union officers on the job.

An election to determine the month instead of once a month, legal bargaining agent for the county hospital and Pleasant Acres Home employees has not months to three months, and that been held yet but the union consents it has 66 out of the 80 eligible employees.

ed on the board floor. He moved to strike the words "for a special election called for that purpose in order that a final determination as to the necessity of a new Outagamie County Airport can be justly made." He dictated as a substitute, "Should Outagamie County build a new airport in the Town of Greenville at a cost of approximately $2,500,000 and dispose of the present airport, the proceeds of which will apply against the total airport cost?"

New Wording
Catlin's motion passed and the resolution went back to the four supervisors who had signed it. After further haggling over the document's language, the question which would go on the ballot in the proposed referendum was phrased: "Shall Outagamie County build a new airport in the Town of Greenville at a cost of $2,500,000 with federal aid and state aid, or with state aid alone and dispose of the present airport and apply the proceeds thereof against the cost of the airport?"

Speaking for the referendum were Kelly Lathrop, Hortonville, an attorney representing the petitioners, Nick Wiesler, Town of Greenville; Robert Alferi, 1820 N. Charlotte St., Appleton, and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hoeft, Town of Greenville.

Dick Zingsheim, Appleton, was the only speaker to oppose the petition in this morning's session.

"Battle With Old Pros"
Lathrop questioned the need for a new airport while Wiesler charged certain "deceptive arguments" were made by proponents of the airport. He said the group circulating the petitions were young people "fully aware they are doing battle with a group of old pros, some of whom are skilled in tactics of lobbying and parliamentary procedure."

Alferi called for "careful study of this matter to determine if we are making a wise decision." A new airport, he said, is not a certain solution to industrial development problems. Hoeft cited a question of "reasonableness and need for a new airport."

Woman Asks Vote
His wife, Gloria, spoke on what she called the need for a public vote on "such a large matter."

Mrs. Hoeft said 900 petitioners

Roberts indicated he worked at a fairly leisurely pace. After the car theft Thursday night, he said he drove around Appleton and Menasha for a while, stopped to skip some stones in the Fox River and then broke into Appleton Senior High School. He said he changed his clothes at his locker in the school and played in the gym before entering the school office and woodworking room.

Roberts told police he committed the first of the succession of burglaries at Northside Hardware, 1415 N. Richmond St., Nov. 6 while walking home from a nocturnal fishing trip. In that entry he found a gun and shot up lights and windows in the store before making his exit, he said.

Roberts said he secretly returned $125 taken from Northside Hardware in the first burglary and $383.01 taken in a second burglary at the same store Dec. 4.

Funds Okayed For Building Army Shops

Construction of Unit at Appleton Hinges on Land

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—The use of federal funds available to the Wisconsin National Guard for the construction of machinery maintenance centers at Appleton, Stevens Point and LaCrosse was approved Monday by the state building commission.

The Guard explained that it already has about 20 of such centers in operation around the state to service its increasingly mechanized military units, and that the new shops would cost $48,000 at LaCrosse, $47,000 at Appleton and $29,000 at Stevens Point.

Hinges on Land

Construction of the shop in Appleton hinges on whether the local unit can obtain land. Col. George Henebry, local advisor, said, Henebry is meeting with the Chambers of Commerce of Appleton, Neenah and Menasha to determine whether they can raise the money to obtain land.

The proposed machine shop, Henebry said, would cost an additional $5,700 for fencing, hard surfacing and fuel disposition facilities.

Building of the shop also would increase the staff of 7 now at the army to 12, the colonel said.

If the land is not obtained, the money for the building will revert back to the federal government, he added.

Board Hires Police Chief

Ray Richard Resigns From Hortonville Trustee Position

HORTONVILLE — The Village Board has hired a new police chief to replace Ira Dominowski, who resigned, and accepted the resignation of Trustee Ray Richards. A new justice of the peace was named.

Richard Macomber, 21, route 2, was chosen from six applicants for Dominowski's job. Macomber is expected to move to the village and start work June 5.

Dominowski resigned charging the Village Board "wants a night watchman and not a police force." He said the conditions the board ordered for the position were impossible for him to comply with.

Business Obligation
Richards, chairman of the Street Committee, said business obligations caused him to resign from the board. He asked that his resignation be made effective as of May 13.

The board appointed John Quinn, a Hortonville High School instructor, as justice of the peace to fill the unexpired term of the late Arthur Dunn.

Walter Danke was issued a building permit for a new home on S. Nash Street.

The problems of dogs running loose and bicyclists riding on sidewalks were referred to the Police and Fire Commission for study and action.

A person living near the accident scene called an ambulance. Before it came, Mrs. Schultz drove to the hospital. She met the ambulance which had been on another call, near the hospital, she told Kemps.

Schultz worked for Miller Electric Manufacturing Co. for about 10 years.

Public Would Bestow Different TV Awards

Popular Survey Fails to Turn Up Single Program With Classic Tone

BY JINGO
Now that all of the awards have been presented and received it might be interesting to note just what the people like. The awards, as you remember, were made by the television workers and the new FCC commissioner has voiced the truism that what is on television is not necessarily what the people are looking for but just what they are looking at.

Jingo

The big award receivers showed a decided trend in the industry toward what has been considered the better things. Five awards for a piece of work that has been acclaimed as a classic for more than two centuries may have been too much of a good thing. Polonius might have muttered, "Methinks he protests too much," but Polonius didn't even last out a play let alone a season.

It may be suspicion bred of too much leisure, but part of the program was reminiscent of the great quiz scandal. The results of the poll were supposed to be secret and guarded just like the big quiz was, but the best part of the show was completely in line with the big winner. In other words, wasn't Dennis Weaver wonderful in his Shakespearean parody? As the industry said when it had its back to the wall in the big inquiries, the business is show business and it takes time to set the stage. Setting a stage calls for pulling some ropes.

Although the television workers may take pride in providing their immense audiences with a fine piece of drama starring the best possible actors for the job, the audience has indicated quite a different viewpoint in a Home Testing Institute questionnaire.

The survey is a rather scientific undertaking in which cross-section panels of 1,000 families participate. The over-all winners had "Bonanza" as undisputed first place with "Sing Along With Mitch" and "Wagon Train" tied for second and "Andy Griffith" in third.

Wings That Breathe May Double Range, Payload of Jets

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Wings that breathe air may double a jet plane's range or payload, say Northrop Corp. scientists.
The air force is sponsoring a three-year, $30 million program to see if they're right. Lt. Gen. Bernard Schriever, chief of the USAF systems command, says it looks like "a real breakthrough."
Two older jets are being modified to test the principle. It works like this:
The jet engines on the Douglas WB66D reconnaissance planes have been removed from beneath the wings and repositioned aft, on the sides of the fuselage near the tail.
Where the jets hung, air suction turbines are being mounted.
They will compress air and then force it out through the wing length.
This flow of air will break up normal friction from air drag on the wing surface, making the wing much more efficient, Northrop believes. This—and the thrust provided by the extra push of the escaping air—should greatly improve performance, scientists say.

President Confers With Soviet Editors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy met Monday with a group of Russian newspaper editors who are completing a tour of the United States.
The U. S. press was barred from the White House session.
The 11 Soviet editors, here in an exchange with the American Society of Newspaper Editors, chatted for 10 minutes or so with Kennedy in the President's office.
Boris Burkov, head of the new Soviet news agency Novosti and spokesman for the group, said they talked of the visit and reported that Kennedy was "in a very good mood." Burkov added, however, that any comment on the substance of their conversation would have to await a White House report later this morning.

Liberace Makes Guest Appearance, but He's Not an Irishman

CHICAGO (AP) — Audiences attending Brendan Behan's comedy "The Hostage" are getting some surprise laughs these days.
Behan has introduced a scheme by which a guest actor appears in the troop inspection scene. The first of the celebrities invited to do a walk-on bit was supper club pianist Liberace.
Garbed in gold lame jacket, Liberace stepped on stage and identified himself as "Michael O'Liberace of the I.R.A."

Chrysler Directors Continue Search for New President

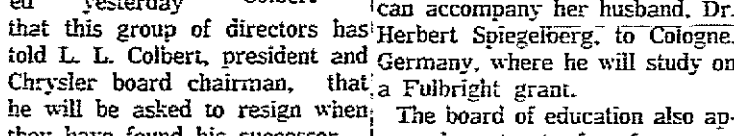

DETROIT (UPI) — A group of Chrysler directors who have already approached at least two top auto industry executives today were expected to continue their search for a man to become the new executive head of the company.

It was learned yesterday that this group of directors has told L. L. Colbert, president and Chrysler board chairman, that he will be asked to resign when they have found his successor.

The directors' group, composed of the so-called "outside" directors who are not Chrysler management employees, had scheduled a special meeting to be held in New York today. Purpose of the meeting was to discuss the latest auto executive who had been approached about becoming Chrysler president.

But it was learned that the most recent candidate for the job notified the directors group late yesterday that he was turning down their proposal.

But even before the word of the candidate reached the lead-

Chicago Teachers Fear for Own Safety

CHICAGO (AP) — The majority of teachers in 71 Chicago public schools fear for their personal safety while teaching, a survey showed Monday.

Teachers in 76 schools called for all day police protection in their schools, while teachers in 64 others asked parttime protection.

The poll was taken in about 500 schools by John M. Fekkes, president of the Chicago Teachers Union, shortly after Mrs. Josephine Keane, 43, a teacher and mother of six, was stabbed to death in a South Side school by a fifth-grader. Fekkes said Monday:

"This survey shows that the great majority of Chicago schools are safe, well run, and that there are problems, but not beyond control," Fekkes said.

Detectives Team Up to Protect Exploited Minorities of City

BY ROBERT OLNSTEAD

CHICAGO (AP)—Two detectives named Garcia and Rhem have worked up a roving quick-change act that's making it tough on unscrupulous merchants itching for a fast buck.

For a month, detectives Ray Garcia and Sylvester Rhem, plus an undisclosed number of others, have been touring gyp auto show-rooms, jewelers and appliance dealers garnished wages totaling $35 million in 1960. Relief payments of $12 million are paid to them in their way.

Stock Market Prepares for Biggest Probe Since 1930s

Commission to Investigate Rules, American Exchange Procedures

BY FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the most important men in Wall Street held a meeting 17 months ago at the American Stock Exchange, close by Trinity Churchyard in lower Manhattan.

Their conference represented a showdown between the exchange and two of its most prominent members, Jerry and Gerard Re. The Res, father and son, stood accused by their colleagues of flouting certain laws and regulations designed to protect the nation's 15 million investors.

The result—Jerry Re was barred from the exchange floor for just 30 days and Gerard was exonerated.

The nation's second largest stock market, the American Stock Exchange in New York, has been jolted by the case of Jerry and Gerard Re, importers expelled from the exchange by the Securities and Exchange Commission on charges of price-rigging and market manipulations. The exchange itself now faces an extensive federal investigation. The following is the first of a series of articles exploring the situation.

millions of dollars of harm to thousands of unsuspecting investors."

The Res, according to their accusers, were guilty of the most flagrant market manipulation in the 26-year history of the SEC.

On May 4, a lawyer for the head of the Floor Transactions Res told the commission that Jerry Re, 64, is a "truculent and arrogant old man" who could not be defended against the charges.

However, the lawyer argued that Gerard, 38, tried to do the right thing, did not willfully violate the injunction prohibiting them from law and should be dealt with less severely.

Found Guilty
In less than 90 minutes, the SEC gave its answer: Jerry and Gerard Re were guilty as charged action, and, as a consequence, were ex-pelled at once from the American Res.

Exchange and barred from employment in any phase of the securities business. This was the maximum penalty the commission could impose.

On May 15, the SEC announced plans to investigate, behind closed doors, "the rules, practices, procedures and procedures" of the American Exchange in relation to its members.

Officials said this will be the biggest investigation of a stock market since Richard Whitney, board.

Once president of the New York Stock Exchange, went to Sing Sing in 1933 for grand larceny. Whitney was not president of the exchange at the time of his conviction.

The purpose of the inquiry is to determine whether new laws or regulations are needed to protect the investing public.

Best-Policed
Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Exchange, says he welcomes the inquiry, at "because of the unwarranted in-ferences which have been made it hasn't stepped out yet."

by some" as a result of the Re case.

McCormick contends the American is the best-policed stock market in the world. He says special steps have been taken to make certain there will be no repetition of the Re situation.

The SEC wants to find out if these steps are indeed adequate. Its officials recall the showdown in December 1959. Here's what happened at that time.

The Business Conduct Committee of the exchange concluded lengthy hearings on charges that the Res violated rules designed to prevent market operators from driving down stock prices by selling short. The committee recommended that the governors of the exchange find the Res guilty.

Some top exchange officials agreed. These included McCormick and Joseph F. Reilly, then the 26-year history of the SEC.
